About St. Martha's Regional Hospital
St. Martha's Regional Hospital serves a population of nearly 40,000 from Antigonish, Guysborough, and surrounding communities. With approximately 90 beds for all in-patient care, General Surgeons at St. Martha's are joined by our colleagues in Family Medicine, Internal Medicine (general and subspecialty), Geriatrics, Hospitalists, Psychiatry, General Surgery, Obstetrics and Gynecology, Plastic Surgery, Ophthalmology, Otolaryngology, Pediatrics, Radiology (U/S, CT, MRI, ECHO), Palliative Care and visiting Oncology and Neurology.

Community based care is further supported by a men's and women's health centre, chronic pain clinic, methadone clinic, and youth clinic at the local high school. Physicians and all staff at St. Martha's Regional Hospital take great pride in providing high-quality care to patients and value collegiality in the work place. Also, St. Martha's Regional Hospital has the most active cross-specialty, accredited Continuing Medical Education (CME) program in the province.
